

Job Vacancy: Postdoctoral Research Scientist
Department of Biology, University of Crete, Heraklion, Greece

The Laboratory of Cell Cycle and Division of the Department of Biology at the University of Crete is seeking a highly motivated scientist for a postdoctoral research position funded by the Association for International Cancer Research (project grant award No 11-0058). The successful candidate will investigate novel functions of Chk1 protein kinase in mitotic cell division in vertebrate cells (Dev Cell 12: 247-260, 2007). Experience on cell biology techniques including confocal microscopy is desired. Applications with CV or further inquiries should be addressed to:

Prof George Zachos

gzachos@biology.uoc.gr

Tel.: 2810 394365

This post is available immediately.